

0

עמוד ▾ «הבלוג הבא»

היכנס צור בלוג

Seeking a Little Truth

Welcome to the thoughts that wash up on the sandy beaches on my mind. Paddling is encouraged.. but watch out for the sharks.

CyberKitten

I have a burning need to know stuff and I love asking awkward questions.

View my complete profile

Friday, March 09, 2007

Economics of the suicide bomber

by Heather Stewart for The Observer

February 25, 2007

Better-educated suicide bombers are given harder targets and succeed in killing more victims, according to research by American economists. Efraim Benmelech and Claude Berrebi, of the National Bureau of Economic Research, studied almost 150 Palestinian suicide bombings, and found that older recruits, and those with more schooling, were assigned to tougher targets. 'The suicide bomber's age and education and the importance of the target are strongly correlated,' they say. Previous research has suggested that suicide bombers may make a rational economic decision that fame, honour and support for their families outweigh any benefits they are likely to gain from a lifetime of ordinary paid employment.

Benmelech and Berrebi suggest that, since more educated bombers could earn more in the labour market, they may demand higher-profile targets, with greater potential rewards. At the same time, terrorist organisations are likely to want to direct their most educated recruits to the hardest jobs. Of 148 bombers examined, 18 per cent had stayed in education beyond high school, compared with 8 per cent in the Palestinian population as a whole.

[A rather interesting way of looking at a disturbing phenomenon I thought.]

Posted by CyberKitten at 6:31 p.m.

Recommend this on Google

No comments:

Post a Comment

Links to this post

Create a Link

Newer Post

Home

Older Post

Followers

Join this site

with Google Friend Connect

Members (52) More »

My Blog List

- Thomas Fummo
14 hours ago
- Lit Nerd
1 day ago
- Sleepypete's Pillow
1 day ago
- Rust Belt Philosophy
2 days ago
- This Week at the Library
3 days ago
- Swerve Left
3 days ago
- Change Happens
5 days ago
- ... and now for something completely different.
1 month ago
- Journal Wunelle
4 months ago
- Foilwoman's Diary
8 months ago
- Let Me Be Frank
8 months ago
- Stardust Musings
9 months ago